Domestic Violence

Intimate partner violence accounts for 15% of all violent crimes. On average, 20 people per minute are physically abused by an intimate partner in the United States. The Weare Police Department wants to help you escape any abuse you may be experiencing. It's important to be aware of the signs of domestic abuse and what is defined as domestic abuse.

The law is on your side!

New Hampshire state law defines Domestic Violence, or abuse, as the "commission or attempted commission of one or more of the following acts by a family or household member or current/former sexual or intimate partner (romantic relationship) and where such conduct constitutes a credible threat to the plaintiff's safety:

- a. Assault or reckless conduct (RSA 631:1,2,2-a);*
- b. Criminal threatening (RSA 635:2)*
- c. Sexual assault (RSA 631:1,2,2-a,4 RSA 632-A)*
- d. Interference with freedom (Includes stalking) (RSA 633:3)*
- e. Unauthorized entry (Enter your residence or home against your will, if you are living separately (RSA 635:2)*
- f. Harassment (RSA 644:4)*

VIOLENCE BY AN INTIMATE PARTNER

What are some signs of Domestic Violence?

The signs of domestic violence are not always as obvious as they may seem. This is because domestic abuse is as much controlling someone's mind and emotions as it is

Think of the following scenarios. The more scenarios you are saying “yes” to the more “red flags” should be going off in your mind when thinking about domestic abuse and your partner controlling you.

- Does your partner ever put you down, call you names, or constantly criticize you?
- Does your partner threaten to hurt you, the children, or another family member?
- Do you try to keep the kids quiet to please your partner?
- Does your partner say it is your fault that he/she hit you, threw you down, or kicked or choked you?
- Can you call on the telephone or visit friends and relatives without getting permission from your partner?
- Is your partner jealous or possessive of you?

WHAT ADDITIONAL STEPS CAN I TAKE TO PROTECT MYSELF?

Your safety is the number one priority. You can obtain Temporary Order of Protection from your Local District or Superior Court. The closest court to Weare, NH is Goffstown District Court.

If the court is closed, you may request the police to obtain a telephonic Emergency Order of Protection. This order is designed to enhance protection against your abuser until the court opens.

Never hesitate to call The Weare Police Department if you believe you may be a victim of domestic abuse. The Weare Police Department wants to know you are safe and ensure you don't have to "walk on egg shells" in your own home!
